WOODLAND WALK

Be sure not to miss our new Woodland Walk with it's streams, waterfalls and indigenous flora and fauna which is located to the rear of Lake Farm.

PEACOCK

Pavo cristatus FAMILY: PHASIANIDAE

STATUS not at risk • DIET omnivore • INCUBATION 28 days • NUMBER OF BROODS 1 • NUMBER OF YOUNG 4-6 eggs •

The peacock is in fact the male bird of the blue peafowl and is appreciated throughout the world for it's beauty. It's habitat is widespread and includes tropical and temperate forests, open grasslands, scrub, deserts and cultivated land throughout India and Sri Lanka. The males are noted for their fabulous display of 200 brilliantly coloured feathers, which are extended in a fan shape around the body and used in courtship.
